

The Headliner

The sun is the headliner. Everything else is the opening act.

Bold, graphic and built around one moment: 6:43 PM. The logo’s striped sun becomes the whole system — a sky of stepped color bands, a sun sinking behind giant type, stripes that get heavier as the finale gets closer.

PAST ROW

The striped sun: a solid dome over seven stripes that thin as the gaps widen. Set it on a horizon, over stepped sky bands. Stripes also mark progress — thicker toward what’s next.

06 • VOICE

“The drop is the sun.” · “Four hours. One sun.” · “Leave it better than you found it.”

Warm, confident, few words. Speak like the host, not the promoter — no hype, no all-caps shouting in body copy.
